HAWLEY FLAYS HAYWOOD IN MERCILESS ARRAIGNMENT

WAGE SCALE FOR CRIME MAINTAINED

CHARGES CRIMES OF YEARS OF OUTLAWRY

WOMEN FLOCK TO THE TRIAL

Crowds Hear State's Opening in Sensational Case of Western Federation Officers

BOISE, June 4.—Chapter II of the great drama centering in the trial of Haywood as the final consequence of fifty years of mining struggles, was opened this morning. The jury that was completed last night was secured after 26 days of searching examinations of nearly three hundred veniremen.

Attorney Hawley this morning opened for the state. His address was vitriolic. He accused Moyer, Haywood and Simpkins with having murdered Stuenenberg, and declared them guilty of all the outrages that have occurred in Idaho, Colorado and Wyoming since 1899, because of their positions as leading spirits in the Western Federation of Miners.

As was true for the first time last night, there were a large number of women present today, following the proceedings closed. Haywood's family were present.

Hawley admitted he didn't expect to show that the defendants were present when the crime was actually committed, but that he would prove they were accessories before the fact. He declared the leaders of the federation were responsible for the death of Stuenenberg, and scores of others.

Darrow objected and Hawley's statement was over-ruled, but he declared he would prove all he said. Darrow interrupted frequently, demanding that his exceptions be recorded. Hawley continued, declaring the defendants had left a trail of blood over the entire mining region, and took life and destroyed property at will.

Crime Wage Scale.
Hawley spoke for two hours, concluding with the statement that the Inner Circle had a scale of wages for every description of crime. He recited a long list of murders in the mining districts, scores of outrages he said were committed by Orchard and Adams, and declared Haywood responsible for all.

First Witness.
The first witness was A. J. Wayne of Caldwell, the first man to reach the body of Stuenenberg after the explosion. He said life still existed,

Hon. William Edgar Borah, United States senator from Idaho, who has been especially prominent recently through his connection with the sensational trial of the officials of the Western Federation of Miners on the charge of conspiracy to murder ex-Governor Stuenenberg, was born at Fairfield, Ill., on June 29, 1856. He was educated in the public schools of Fairfield and the University of Kansas, and then studied law, and in 1889 was admitted to the bar. He married Miss Mamie McConnell at Boise, Idaho, on April 25, 1895.

but the governor was unable to speak. Wayne was not cross examined.

Dr. J. W. Due explained the nature of the victim's injuries. He said the bones of his legs were shattered but the flesh unhurt. He was not cross examined.

John C. Rice, a neighbor of Stuenenberg, gave similar testimony. He added that he knew Orchard as Thomas Hogan, and swore he saw him daily in the vicinity of the Stuenenberg mine.

Phones Established During Past Year.

CHICAGO, June 4.—President James Hodge of the International Independent Telephone association, in opening the first session of the annual convention today, reported that half the million telephones have been added to the independent system during the past year. He estimates the Bell at the same number, making a million new telephones. He reports many new franchises obtained in the past year.

Today the convention of the International Independent Telephone association convened at the Auditorium hotel in Chicago. La Crosse is to be represented in convention by C. H. Schweizer and W. F. Goodrich, the local manager of the La Crosse Independent Telephone company. Mr. Schweizer will deliver a speech on the subject, "Rural Telephone Situations," this to be followed by a discussion on the subject.

United States Was Buncoed
in German Convention

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—Baron Sternberg, the German ambassador, crowned his diplomatic career when he took to the Kaiser the convention relating to reciprocal tariff relations with the United States, and now it is complained that Director North of the American commission that made investigations in Germany, was too pre-occupied with the social honors paid him to detect the little game by which this country was, for a year at least, tied up to arrangements which experts say are palpably unjust to us and advantageous to Germany. Some congressmen threaten to rush remedial legislation into the next session, even declaring that the whole trouble was executive interference with legislative business.

ANTI-ROOSEVELT MOVEMENT KILLED

PLAN TO REPUDIATE WESTERN LAND POLICY TO FAIL

MAY EVEN GET INDORSEMENT

Publicity Said to Have Defeated Purpose of President's Enemies on the Pacific Coast

(By J. C. Welliver.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—(Special)—A little publicity applied in the right way is credited with spoiling the plans for an anti-Roosevelt movement in the far west.

Indications now are, according to reports received in Washington from numerous western sources, that the public lands convention called at Denver for June 18, 19 and 20 will decline to go on record against the federal administration of public lands. Instead, the friends of the president and of the interior department now believe that they have a good fighting chance of securing an indorsement for Roosevelt policies.

"It's going to be a beautiful fight," admitted an official who has been keeping in close touch with the preliminary work on the convention. "I believe now that the effort to give a political turn to the gathering will be dropped, rather than take the chance of being defeated."

The call for the convention was issued by E. R. Harper, acting governor of Colorado. Mr. Harper, acting under authority of the legislature first communicated with the governors of all trans-Missouri states, and nearly all joined in giving the gathering official countenance. The call announces a committee on program, which has been studied with close interest in Washington because its composition is such as strongly to suggest hostility to Roosevelt's political as well as land policies. This committee includes all the men who took the most prominent part in the bitter attacks on the public land policies of the administration during the long discussion in congress last session. A number of other anti-Roosevelt statesmen, who did not take part at that time but are known to be antagonistic to Mr. Roosevelt, have been added. The list includes, among men whom Washington recognizes as leaders of anti-Roosevelt opinion, Senators Perkins of California, Heyburn of Idaho, Carter of Montana, Nixon of Nevada, Fulton of Oregon, Kittredge of South Dakota, Piles of Washington, Clark of Wyoming, and Teller of Colorado, who is said to be chairman. Then there are Representatives French of Idaho, Bartlett of Nevada, Howell of Utah, Bushman of Washington, Mondell of Wyoming. These, constituting almost the entire membership of the committee, were expected to give the direction to its deliberations, and in view of their united hostility last winter it was small wonder that the officials of the interior department and the president himself became concerned about the gathering.

But the scheme of making it an anti-administration convention split on the rack of politics. So long as the promoters confined themselves to a discussion of land questions they were safe; but when the impression got abroad that they proposed to take the administration off its guard and quietly get in some political work that should be turned to account later in setting up anti-Roosevelt delegations for the 1908 convention, they found trouble. The president is very popular with the people in that section; almost as popular with the people in fact, as he is unpopular with the politicians. It is probably a fair statement that the section where the president is most liked, is represented in Washington by the most hostile group of public men. These politicians as a rule don't admit, when at home, that they are against the president. Some of them are not. But the large majority have mighty little use for him, and the fact is well known in Washington. If it were equally well understood in their home states a good number of them would be retired soon.

Some Good Work.
The convention, with politics largely eliminated, is expected to do some useful work. There are many problems connected with the development of the far west, which need attention at the hands of congress. Just what sort of laws are needed to develop different sections to best advantage, will be considered, and it is now thought that a series of recommendations will be adopted and turned over to a legislative commission for formation into legislative measures to be pressed upon congress' attention.

Secretary of the Interior Garfield, Chief Forester Gifford Pinchot, F. H. Newell, chief of the reclamation service, and R. A. Ballinger, commissioner of the general land office, will all attend and address the convention.

WEDDED ON NORTH SIDE
Joseph Witbeck and Miss Agelheit Summers, both well known residents of the North side, were married this morning at the North Side German Lutheran church.

TOO GAY FOR QUEEN

London Life May Shock
Denmark's Sovereign

LONDON, June 4.—The queen of Denmark, who is coming with King Frederick as guest of the British court, is the wealthiest, the tallest and the most puritanical queen in Europe. It will be amusing to see how she adapts herself to the gaieties of London, and whether she will disapprove of the lavish entertainment provided for her.

At home in Copenhagen, she lives according to rigid rules, keeping her court severely decorous and deadly dull. She never plays cards or indulges in sport of any kind, and the only dances she goes to are the official balls where her presence is necessary.

Queen Louise permits herself to wear one of the finest sets of jewelry in the world, however. She possesses a great fortune, which her serious disposition has enabled her to keep intact.

ANOTHER RAILROAD PLANS TO COME INTO LA CROSSE

'FLABBERGASTED!' OBSERVERS ADMIT

WEATHER DEPARTMENT AT WASHINGTON IS AT SEA

SAYS HICKS IS OFF, TOO

But Old Goosebone Seems to Have Right Hunch, Though None
Knows Why

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 4.—"Flabbergasted" is the way the government experts in the weather bureau describe their dilemma created by the erratic weather conditions.

In an interview today the department denied that the earthquakes, volcanic revivals or Waldman's trip to the pole have been responsible. They are at sea.

"In Chicago, for instance," said an official, "upon most accurate and convincing examination of conditions and indications, there was given out a forecast for June 2 that summer—sizzling, eternal Summer—would make its debut that day. At noon on June 2 the news dispatches were carrying over the world the startling news, 'Snow in Chicago.' And there you are. And the worst of it is, thousands of people blame the department for the weather."

"Now, I'll tell you the direct cause of the abnormal weather of May and April, but what's behind it we don't know. Nobody knows. It's one of the problems of meteorology that we are now trying to solve. The abnormal weather in May and April was due, as I said, to the distribution of barometric pressure.

Finds Mystery in Pressures.
During these two months the pressure has been unusually high in the northern latitudes and unusually low in the southern latitudes. The natural result was an abnormal or unequal distribution of pressure, causing an inflow of northern and colder winds from north to south.

"Don't ask what caused the high pressure in the north, for I don't know. We are studying the distribution of pressure over the entire hemisphere and when we find out about it everybody will be advised. A good many people think that solar conditions may be responsible for the recent brand of weather. We have records of solar conditions for the past fifty or sixty years. They were taken after elaborate and painstaking comparisons made with territorial weather conditions. The results have been negative largely. They teach us nothing that elucidates the present day climatic puzzle.

Hicks Out Touted.
"Yes, they blame us," continued the expert, "but we are not alone in our misery. As a newspaper said this morning:

"Hicks, the weather prophet of St. Louis, and Jackson Devoe, the goosebone expert of Hackensack, N. J., have increased the uncertainties of a variable climate. Hicks started a hot spell on June 2, when the conditions were actually such as to call for a fur cap out of doors and a furnace fire within. On the third there was some confirmation of his predictions, for a rise occurred and the sky looked ominous. But people who want to believe in a prophet, and their number is legion, will be troubled on learning that Goosebone Devoe is for a cold month all the way through, whereas Hicks would have us swelter."

"Only love of my job and fear of the wrath of the people prevents me from confessing to an inward conviction that, for some unfathomable reason, old Goosebone has both Hicks' and the department on the slip this time," concluded the disconsolate observer.

FROM DUBUQUE TO TWIN CITIES

DAN PATCH AIR LINE BRANCH
FROM PRESTON

CAPITALIZATION IS $3,000,000

Plan to Run Line Into La Crosse Is Being Strongly Considered
by Line's Officers.

Officials of the "Dan Patch Air Line," the Minneapolis, Rochester & Dubuque Traction company, formed to build an electric road from Minneapolis, Minn., to Dubuque, Iowa, have announced that the new line will be in operation to Owatonna, Minn., by Nov. 1. The company is considering building a branch track from Preston, Minn., to La Crosse, thus affording La Crosse another new railroad, and opening up a vast territory in southeastern and central Minnesota to La Crosse wholesalers and retailers.

Plans have been considered for this branch road several times, and at meetings held at Preston, Minn., and other towns in that section, La Crosse representatives were present, and took a formal part in the discussion for towns appropriating money and buying bonds. While no definite announcement of the plan to enter La Crosse has been made, this probably will follow shortly after the completion of the line, when branches may be projected, and "feeders" constructed.

The announcement that the line will be in operation to Owatonna by Nov. 1 was made by M. W. Savage, president of the company, of Minneapolis. Owatonna is situated a short distance from Winona, Minn., and truly may be considered in La Crosse territory.

That the Minneapolis, Rochester & Dubuque Traction company is not an idle boast is seen in the announcement. The company is organized with a capital of $3,000,000. Its officers are:

President—M. W. Savage.

First vice-president and secretary—C. W. Shivel.

Second vice-president—W. D. Bou-tell.

Third vice-president—E. B. Savage.

M. W. Savage is proprietor of the International Stock Food company, while E. B. Savage also is connected with the same company. C. W. Shivel is a director of the United States Printing company.

The Harrington-Skiles company, bankers, Minneapolis, has undertaken the task of selling the stock, and already reports a large sale, throughout the country, through which the road will pass.

The right of way of practically the entire line, 246 miles, has been secured and surveyed. Little portions will be purchased later to perfect the route.

Secretary Ray S. Reid of the board of trade is in Madison before the committee on claims in connection with his river commission bill, and could not be seen today as to whether any communication has been received by that body from the promoters of the line.

S.S.S. FORTY YEARS OF CURES

Long experience and thorough testing have proven S. S. S. to be the King of blood purifiers and the greatest of all tonics. For nearly half a century S. S. S. has been used in the treatment of blood and skin diseases of every character, and so satisfactory have been the results that it is now the best known and most widely used blood medicine on the market. S. S. S. attracted attention as soon as it was placed on the market by curing promptly those diseases for which it was recommended, and we have so jealously guarded its first good reputation, by keeping it up to its standard in manufacture, that it now has the unequalled and pleasing record of "Forty Years Of Cures." For Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Malaria, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison, and all other diseases due to an impure or poisoned condition of the blood, there is nothing that equals S. S. S. It counteracts and removes the germs and poisons, cleanses the system of all unhealthy matter, cures the trouble permanently, and restores strong, robust health. Where the blood is weak or anaemic and unable to nourish the system as it should, S. S. S. supplies it with the needed properties, and being a bracing, invigorating tonic it builds up the entire system. It goes to the very bottom of all blood disorders, and in this way reaches deep-seated and inherited cases on which the ordinary sarsaparilla and tonics have little or no effect. Not only is S. S. S. certain in its results, but it is an absolutely safe medicine. It enjoys the distinction of being the only blood medicine on the market that is guaranteed purely vegetable. If you are in need of a blood remedy begin the use of S. S. S., the medicine that has proven its worth by its record of forty years of cures. Book on the blood and any medical advice you wish. No charge for either.

NO PARADE IN THE MORNING

President Elliott Decides That It Would Be a Losing Proposition to Make the Change

President Elliott of the La Crosse Baseball association has decided that it would be a losing investment to transfer the Fourth of July ball games, scheduled here with Oshkosh, to Oshkosh, and accordingly the two games, morning and afternoon, will be played at League park.

It was thought a short time ago that it would be best to transfer the contests because of the Barnum & Bailey circus coming on that date. However, the show does not give a parade and consequently the coming of the shows will not detract from the morning ball game. As for the afternoon it is figured that the fans will attend the game and take in the circus in the evening.

Badgers Draw Outside Position in Big Event

NEW YORK, June 4.—Drawing for the intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie on June 26 were made yesterday and Columbia has the inside proposition in the varsity race. The courses have been moved, so the inside crew will not be affected by the eddy. The drawings, No. 1, being on the highlands side of the river, are as follows:

Varsity fours—No. 1, Syracuse; No. 2, Pennsylvania; No. 3, Columbia; No. 4, Cornell.
 Freshmen—No. 1, Cornell; No. 2, Wisconsin; No. 3, Syracuse; No. 4, Pennsylvania; No. 5, Columbia.
 Varsity eights—No. 1, Columbia; No. 2, Cornell; No. 3, Syracuse; No. 4, Pennsylvania; No. 5, Georgetown; No. 6, Wisconsin.

Not Entered

MADISON, Wis., June 4.—At last night's practice Coach Ten Eyck told the crew that Wisconsin would not be represented this year at Poughkeepsie in the four oared race. The reason assigned is that the Badger four oared shell is unfit for use, and that it would only be a waste of money to take a crew east with a poor boat. Instead two substitutes for the freshmen and two for the varsity crew will go to Poughkeepsie.

Coach Ten Eyck took the men out on the lake last night in a heavy rain storm. They rowed over the four mile course from the boathouse to Grene Point. Last night was the first trial of the new shell which came to Madison last week with the Syracuse crew. The faculty has engaged E. H. Ten Eyck to coach all the Wisconsin crews next year. His salary will be $2,000. It is planned to extend rowing so that it will be a popular sport among the students as an exercise.

In today's tournament Chicago took the lead, with Wisconsin one down at the end of the first round. The Chicago:

(By Lefty.)

A large bunch of that liquid known as rain spread itself over La Crosse and surrounding vicinity Sunday night and yesterday, benefitting the crops, but doing a little damage to the champions of the Wisconsin State league, inasmuch as it stopped play at League park in the third game of the series with Madison. Hawley had a lovely package all framed up and tied with yellow ribbon for "Howdy's" pennant aspirants, but the opportunity to present it was washed away.

After taking two from the bunch from the capitol it was almost a sure thing that the champs would make it three straight. This being the case the weather played a mean trick.

Freeport Today

The first game of the most interesting series of any yet played here, is on today, Freeport being the visitors. The Pretzels arrived in the city this morning, confidence written all over their sturdy faces, and instructions in their vest pockets from the fans down at Freeport to clean up the champs. However, it is believed our sturdy athletes will be able to take at least two out of three of the series with a long chance at the three. Dope all points homeward for there is no team in the league, as is indicated by the percentage column, playing the game as are Hawley's men. Baillies is due to whip them over today and the way the big fellow is throwing should defeat the Illinoisans.

Have Safe Lead

At the present time the champs have a safe lead on the first place and should be able to maintain it at the gate they have set. Thus far there has been nothing in the league able to cope with the bunch, all teams appearing inferior up to date. Of course it is hard to tell what the condition will be when the men become seasoned, but in any event the champs will be there at the finish.

Wausau is showing the best form of any of the lower clubs now. Ferguson's men have been winning steadily in the past week and coming up the ladder at a very encouraging rate. Fond du Lac is also taking a brace, long inning games and ties, being a specialty of Letcher's men.

Green Bay is still in the rut while Oshkosh is flopping downward about as fast as they can. This is mainly due to the fact that the other teams are playing better ball and getting stronger every day.

There seems to be one general howl arising over the circuit in regard to umpires. Although the league has raised the salaries of the officials to $150, this has not yet produced the kind of men desired. Of the whole assignment there appears to be only one man of worth, according to reports, that man being Hayes.

The men seen at League park this season are not the kind desired for an organization of this sort. Their knowledge of the game and especially of the rules laid down to umpires, is limited. In emergencies, when quick decisions must be made on technical points, they have been lacking. Another failing noticed is in disciplining the players. They allow men to talk as they please and never think of assessing a fine or putting a man out of the game. Surely real umpires can be picked up for $150 per.

GAME WAS WELL PLAYED

Home Team Gets a Good Start in the First Inning—All Other Contests Postponed

Eau Claire, Wis., June 4.—The last game of the series with Freeport yesterday was won by the home team, the score being 4 to 3. Eau Claire started off with a rush, scoring three runs in the first inning and the run which proved to be the winning one. In the fourth inning. The game was a freakish one, the locals only getting four hits and making five errors while Freeport made four hits and played a fine game in the field. Scott was relieved by Darrah. Smith pitched a nice game for Eau Claire. The score:

HOT AFTER RIPPON AGAIN

Lawrence University Baseball Team Wants Another Game

APPLETON, Wis., June 4.—(Special)—Lawrence university's baseball team is hot after Rippon college for another game. Lawrence defeated Rippon on Lawrence field, and Rippon defeated the locals on Ingalls field at Rippon. However, Lawrence feels that an unfair decision robbed them of victory, and now asks that its old foes meet them on neutral grounds to decide the championship. Coach Graves of Lawrence said today:

"When we played at Rippon, the score was 8 to 2 in our favor in the sixth inning. Then the umpire made a decision that even Rippon players declared unfair. Then a note went to the umpire from the side-lines. At the close the score was 12 to 9 in Rippon's favor. I think we are entitled to a game on neutral grounds, and we have sent a challenge to Rippon."

CAPTAIN OF BASKET BALL TEAM

MADISON, Wis., June 4.—Arthur Frank, who played guard on the Wisconsin university basketball team last year, has been elected captain of the team for next winter. Frank formerly played on the Milwaukee Academy team, and is considered one of the best college players in the west.

GOOD FURNITURE THE MONTH OF WEDDINGS

This month, June, has been aptly styled the month of weddings. Just why, it is perhaps difficult to say, but we take it that, the "young man's fancy" having "lightly turned to thoughts of love" in the early days of spring, he is about ready with the wedding ring as early summer draws on.

But it is of the wedding gifts that we would speak just at present. The custom of giving something in the furniture line is steadily growing, and even if the happy couple do not plan to start their wedded life in their own home at the very first, still there are almost countless kinds of the most desirable wedding presents in the furniture line that form the most beautiful and welcome of all bridal gifts.

Let the champs keep up the present gait and in a short time the other clubs will give up all hope of ever catching them.

Whitmore, the college player with Madison, is one of the nicest hitters seen here this year. He assumes an easy position at the plate and hits the ball hard.

Oshkosh may lose Pitcher Sage. The Kansas City club has filed agreements for the repurchase of the big fellow and also for R. J. Kahl of Evansville.

Pitcher Dammann, formerly with Indianapolis, later with Fond du Lac, has been signed by Evansville of the Central league.

Since entering the National league, Christy Mathewson has won 155 games and lost only 83.

La Crosse should graduate at least two men this season and possibly more. Konetchy is due to go up and Bond can make good in faster company.

Players frequently score from second base on infield hits, but it is rarely that a player goes from first to third on a sacrifice hit. Yet Wagner of Pittsburg accomplished this feat in a game Saturday.

Madison's team is badly broken up at the present time with Baker out of the game with a bum mitt. Shaub is playing second, the infield being switched around. The pitchers are also out of condition.

La Crosse stands second in the attendance thus far this season. The Sunday games pack the park while the week day games draw very good crowds.

TWO IMPORTANT PROJECTS

Tonight the board of trade meets to consider two matters of importance to La Crosse. One is the adoption of measures to properly advertise La Crosse; the other is to establish a public market place such as have been proven profitable to dealers and "handy" for customers in many cities. We understand that at this time the livestock feature alone will be considered.

As to advertising La Crosse, the idea has been entrusted to a committee eminently qualified to deal with it intelligently. Messrs. William Doerflinger, Harry Long and Frank Sisson are among the most experienced and successful advertisers in Western Wisconsin. They have given the matter most careful study and thought, and their recommendations should be followed with vigor and keen purpose.

The market plan, originating with Mr. Andy Boyd, is one that recommends itself because it has been a huge success in other cities of this class. There was one in operation in Butte, Mont., as long as eight years ago, when that city contained but 28,000 people and was a hardscrabble mining camp. One in Cleveland was noted recently by a TRIBUNE correspondent, and it is there considered indispensable as a means of facilitating business. In the feature of it aimed at by Langdon & Boyd it would doubtless bring thousands of dollars annually to La Crosse that now goes to Chicago through shipment from smaller towns. A favorable committee report should impell the board to affirmative and prompt action.

THE LA FOLLETTE MOVEMENT

The movement in support of the La Follette presidential candidacy is getting a good start, and promises to make the Wisconsin man a factor with which the Taft people will have to deal seriously.

In the Washington correspondence of THE TRIBUNE yesterday Mr. Welliver pointed out the strong features of Senator La Follette's plea to the public. His strength lies in the fact that no other candidate has had so large and successful experience in promoting legislation of the sort demanded, and that none who is eligible from the present reform standpoint has the wide acquaintance of La Follette.

To this advantageous position, Mr. Welliver insists, strength is added by the fact that in his Indianapolis speech, in which it is accepted the president pointed the way of the next congressional session, the latter made main issues of two things originated by La Follette—the demand for physical valuation of railroad property as an index to income, and the demand that corporations be no longer permitted to promiscuously and dishonestly over-capitalize corporation properties.

The west is for La Follette. Much of the south is for La Follette. Mr. Welliver says that the strength acquired by La Follette in the east during his tour there some time ago has been greatly increased by the admissions of his correctness found in the Roosevelt address.

It is a serious and happy fact, and those who are "agin" it will find it no joke, that "Bob" La Follette has got to be reckoned with as among the strongest possibilities in the race for the republican presidential nomination. Were the matter to be decided by popular vote he would be a "cinch."

OUR EFFICIENT INSURANCE DEPARTMENT

Discussing the insurance situation, the current Collier's warns subscribers that, taking advantage of the feeling against the old leading insurance companies, unscrupulous or inexperienced men are starting great numbers of small insurance companies, investment in whose policies means certain loss to the subscribers. In conclusion it pays this high compliment to Wisconsin:

"They (the new little companies) are wrong in principle, and that those who insure in them will lose all is a mathematical matter, just as sure as that two and two make four. Upon the insurance superintendent of responsibility to take nothing for granted, but to investigate thoroughly every company doing business in his state. Among insurance departments, two of the most vigilant are those of Wisconsin and Massachusetts. For those who are solicited to join new insurance companies a good rule is to write to the insurance department of either of these states and ask if the company has been licensed to do business there."

There is ground for pride in living in a state that is thus signaled out by a publication that is never guilty of careless inaccuracies as one of but two states in the union whose insurance department is so reliable that its declaration to license a corporation is positive proof that the corporation is unsound. The compliment is deserved, for the Wisconsin insurance department has been put into a state of splendid efficiency.

"THEY SAY?" THE LIAR

Somebody has said something that he said President Roosevelt said, which he probably didn't say, and thereafter there comes what Tom, Dick and Harry said.

Somebody said that President Roosevelt said to a delegation of Harvard men: "In a year and eleven months I expect to be an active member of the Harvard organization." And it was inferred by somebody else that this meant that the president meant to convey the idea that he is to be president of Harvard.

So Dr. Henry Pickering Wolcott is said to have said: "President Roosevelt never will become the head of Harvard university as long as Charles N. Elliot is alive," and "I should not vote for him" because he is not what you would call an academic man."

Now here is a pretty mystery. Of course the president may have made arrangements concerning which Mr. Wolcott is ignorant, but that is not likely. It is even possible that he has made up his mind to become president of Harvard and has not thought it necessary to take anybody into his confidence, in which case there's The Hague. It is altogether more likely that some bit of complimentary pleasantry has been misconstrued or distorted to make newspaper "copy."

But that is the trouble with men of strenuous mold being president. They do things and they say things, and there is the incessant talk, talk, talk!

A French actress complains that her barefoot dance appeals only to the baser instincts of New Yorkers, while in Paris her admirers saw nothing but art in the performance. How can an actress whose daring extends no further than bare feet hope to reach the carnal emotions of a Paris audience?

Having boxed his son-in-law's ears for neglecting his wife to shower attentions on a pretty woman, Mr. Vanderbilt falls victim to the wiles of the same beauty. Two sorrowing wives are by now convinced that, "Like father, like son-in-law."

The alarm has been sounded. Miss Ethel Roosevelt is to become a New Year debutante. Speed the early arrival of one to emulate the example of "Nic" Longworth in the heroic role of rescue of the imperiled army of journalism.

It is said that Senator Dolliver has been selected by the president to conduct the railroad legislation program in the next session of congress. It is expected that "Bob" will bob up with sufficient regularity to keep the Iowan busy.

Snow fall broke up the "show" at Coney Island on June 2, 1907. The Bowers have not been heard from.

If "Sherbie" Becker goes on the stage Bill Hooker will likely go on as the sound of galloping hoofs.

ALEXANDER GRAHAM BELL

Mr. Alexander Graham Bell, the father of the modern telephone, was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, on March 3, 1847. He graduated from London university and went to Canada in 1870, but moved to Boston in 1871, where he was employed as an educator. Mr. Bell married, in 1877, Miss Mabel Gardiner. It was on February 14, 1876, that Mr. Bell finally applied for a patent on the first practical telephone ever invented, and his work of that period still forms the real foundation of the modern instrument. He reaped immense financial returns from his invention, and was significantly honored by the University of Heidelberg as a benefactor of the human race. His home is in Washington D. C.

HANDS OFF IN ILLINOIS

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 3.—Roosevelt has promised not to take a hand in the Illinois fight, hence former Senator Mason feels better. He had a talk with the president today concerning the senatorial situation in Illinois. Mason is a candidate to succeed Senator Hopkins. The prospects look good to me," he said. "I am very much encouraged by the announcement that the president, governor Cannon and Mayor Busse will not take a hand in the fight."

Provocation Enough

A deaf old gentleman dined with a family where grace was always said. When the guests were seated the host bowed his head and began to repeat the accustomed verse in a subdued, reverent tone.

"Eh? What's that?" demanded the deaf old gentleman, who sat beside him.

The host smiled patiently and began again, in a louder, more deprecatory voice.

"Speak a little louder. I don't catch what you say," the old gentleman persisted.

A low ripple of laughter went around the table. The host, his face crimson with embarrassment, raised his voice and repeated the verse. The deaf gentleman did his best to hear but failed. He placed one hand upon his host's arm.

"What did you say?" he demanded irascibly.

The host cast him an angry glance. "D—n it, I'm saying 'grace,' he snapped.—Lippincott's.

Encouraging.

Over in the Salmon River Meadows country, in Idaho, ranged a wild and woolly bunch of long-haired cowpunchers, whose knowledge of the world was confined mainly to trips after cattle into surrounding countries. Into this reckless but verdant community there came the smooth-tongued representative of a Wild West show, who hired several riders at a high salary to do a hair-raising act, the chief feature being that they should appear to be thrown from their horses and dragged by the foot.

After they had practiced in a corral for awhile, one of them loosened himself, and, rising from the dirt, disheveled and dazed, inquired:

"Say, mister, ain't this rather dangerous? We might git killed."

"That's all right," chirped the show's representative cheerfully. "Your salary will go on just the same."—Lippincott's.

CHAPTER X.

The Wit of an Adventurer

Up creek the three negroes fled, past other camps, to where the stream branched. Here they took to the right and urged their horses along a forsaken trail to the headwaters of the little tributary and over the low saddle. They had endeavored to reach unfrequented paths as soon as possible in order that they might pass unnoticed. Before quitting the valley they halted their heaving horses, and, selecting a stagnant pool, scoured the grease paint from their features as best they could. Their ears were strained for sounds of pursuit, but as the moment eased somewhat and they conversed guardedly. As the morning light spread they crossed the moss-capped summit of the range, but paused again, and removing two saddles, hid them among the rocks. Slapjack left the others here and rode southward down the Dry Creek Trail towards town, while the partners shifted part of the weight from the overloaded pack-mules to the remaining saddle-animals and continued eastward along the barren comb of hills on foot, leading the five horses.

"It don't seem like we'll get away this easy," said Dextery, scanning the back trail. "If we do, I'll be tempted to follow the business reglar. This grease paint on my face makes me smell like a minstrel man. I bet we'll get some 'bully press notices tomorrow.'"

"I wonder what Helen was doing there," Glenister answered, irrelevantly, for he had been more shaken by his encounter with her than at his part in the rest of the enterprise, and his mind, which should have been busied with the flight, held nothing but pictures of her as she stood in the half darkness under the fear of his Winchester.

"What if she ever learned who that black ruffian was?" He quailed at the thought.

"Say, Dex, I am going to marry that girl."

"I dunno if you be or not," said Dextery. "Better watch McNamara."

"What?" The younger man stopped and stared. "What do you mean?"

"Go on. Don't stop the horses. I ain't blind. I kin put two an' two together."

"You'll never put those two together. Nonsense! Why, the man's a rascal. I wouldn't let him have her. Besides, it couldn't be. She'll find him out. I love her so much that—oh, my feelings are too big to talk about. He moved his hands eloquently. "You can't understand."

"Um-m! I s'pose not," grunted Dextery, but his eyes were level and held the light of the past.

"He may be a rascal," the old man continued, after a little; "I'll put in with you on that; but he's a handsome devil, and, as for manners, he makes you look like a logger. He's a brave man, too. Them three qualities are trump-cards and warranted to take most any queen in the human deck—red, white, or yellow."

"If he dares," growled Glenister, while his thick brows came forward and ugly lines hardened in his face.

In the gray of the early morning they descended the foot-hills into the wide valley of the Nome river and filed out across the rolling country to the river bluff, where, cleverly concealed among the willows, was a rocker. This they set up, then proceeded to wash the dirt from the sacks carefully, yet with the utmost speed, for there was serious danger of discovery. It was wonderful, this treasure of the richest ground since the days of '49, and the men worked with shining eyes and hands a-tremble. The gold was coarse, and many ragged, yellow lumps, too large to pass through the screen, rolled in the hopper, while the aprons belled with its weight. In the pans which they had provided there grew a gleaming heap of wet, raw gold.

Shortly, by divergent routes, the partners rode unnoticed into town, and into the excitement of the hold-up news, while the tardy still lingered over their breakfasts. Far out in the roadstead lay the Roanoke, black smoke pouring from its stack. A tug was returning from its last trip to her.

Glenister forced his lathered horse down to the beach and questioned the longshoremen who hung about.

"No; it's too late to get aboard—the last tender is on its way back," they informed him. "If you want to go to the 'outside' you'll have to wait for the fleet. That only means another week, and—there she blows now."

A ribbon of white mingled with the velvet from the steamer's funnel and there came a slow, throbbing, farweller blast.

Glenister's jaw clicked and squared.

"Quick! You men!" he cried to the sailors. "I want the lightest dory on the beach and the strongest oarsmen in the crowd. I'll be back in five minutes. There's a hundred dollars in it for you if we catch that ship."

He whirled and spurred up through the mud of the streets. Bill Wheaton was snoring luxuriously when wrenched from his bed by a disheveled man who shook him into wakefulness and into a portion of his clothes, with a storm of excited instructions. The lawyer had neither or time nor opportunity for exposition. For Glenister snatched a valise and swept into it a litter of documents from the table.

"Hurry up, man," he yelled, as the lawyer dived frantically about his office in a rabbit-like hunt for items. My Heavens! Are you dead? Wake up! The ship's leaving. With sleep still in his eyes Wheaton was dragged down from the street to the beach, where a knot had assembled to witness the race. As they tumbled into the skiff, willing hands ran it out into the surf on the crest of a roller. A few lifting heaves and they were over the bar with the man at the oars bending the white ash at every swing.

"I guess I didn't forget anything," gasped Wheaton as he put on his coat. "I got ready yesterday, but I couldn't find you last night, so I thought the deal was off."

Glenister stripped off his coat and, facing the bow, pushed upon the oars at every stroke, thus adding his strength to that of the oarsmen. They crept rapidly out from the beach, eating up the two miles that lay towards the ship. He urged the men with all his power till the sweat soaked through their clothes and, under their clinging shirts, the muscles stood out like iron. They had covered half the distance when Wheaton uttered a cry and Glenister desisted from his work with a curse. The Roanoke was moving slowly.

The rowers rested, but the young man shouted at them to begin again, and, seizing a boat-hook, struck it into the arms of his coat. He waved this on high while the men redoubled their efforts. For many moments they hung in suspense, watching the black hull as it gathered speed, and then, as they were about to cease their effort, a puff of steam burst from its whistle and the next moment a short toot of recognition reached them. Glenister wiped the moisture from his brow and grinned at Wheaton.

A quarter of an hour later, as they lay heaving below the ship's steel sides, he thrust a heavy buckskin sack into the lawyer's hand.

"There's money to win the fight, Bill. I don't know how much, but it's enough. God bless you. Hurry back!"

A sailor cast them a whirling rope, up which Wheaton clambered; then, tying the gripsack to its end, they sent it after.

"Important!" the young man yelled at the officer on the bridge. "Government business." He heard a muffled clang in the engine-room, the thrash of the propellers followed, and the big ship glided past.

As Glenister dragged himself up the beach, upon landing, Helen Chester called to him, and made room for him beside her. It had never been necessary to call him beside her before; and equally unfamiliar was the abashment, or perhaps physical weariness, that led the young man to sink back in the warm sand with a sigh of relief. She noted that, for the first time, the audacity was gone from his eyes.

"I watched your race," she began. "It was very exciting and I cheered for you."

"What made you keep on after the ship started? I should have given up—and cried."

"I never give up anything that I want," he said.

"Have you never been forced to? Then it is because you are a man."

Women have to sacrifice a great deal."

Helen expected him to continue to the effect that he would never give her up—it was in accordance with his earlier presumption—but he was silent; and she was not sure that she liked him as well thus as when he overwhelmed her with the boldness of his suit. For Glenister it was delightful, after the perils of the night, to rest in the calm of her presence, and to feel dumbly that she was near. She saw him secretly caress a fold of her dress.

If only she had not the memory of that one night on the ship. "Still, he is trying to make amends in the best way he can," she thought.

"Though, of course, no woman could care for a man who would do such a thing." Yet she thrilled at the thought of how he had thrust his body between her and danger; how, but for his quick, insistent action, she would have failed in escaping from the pest ship, failed in her mission, and met death on the night of her landing. She owed him much.

"Did you hear what happened to the good ship Ohio?" she asked.

"No; I've been too busy to inquire. I was told the health officers quarantined her when she arrived, that's all."

"She was sent to Egg Island with every one aboard. She has been there more than a month now and may not get away this summer."

"What a disappointment for the poor devils on her!"

"Yes, and only for what you did, I should be one of them," Helen remarked.

"I didn't do much," he said. "The fighting part is easy. It's not half

WE'RE TOO SENSITIVE

Barefoot Dancer Fears Americans Will Ignore Art

PARIS, June 4.—"America is not yet ripe."

When Maud Allan, a marvelous dancer said that today, she meant that American audiences and spectators ought to cast aside prudery and consider art.

She has given a new sensation to jaded Paris, but she fears that in New York there are not enough people to appreciate the beauty of her work. The general run might object to seeing a woman running about the stage in bare feet.

She appears on the stage without lights. Her body is covered by a light oriental garment, studded with precious stones. Her figure, symmetrical as Canova's Venus, gives no suggestion of athletic overdevelopment, but rather of the perfect proportions which fit the Greek idea. Her bare feet are not so small, but are beautifully modeled. As she enters into the spirit of the dance she becomes absorbed in her work. She makes no appeal to the baser tastes of most persons who go to see a new dancer.

GIVES DAM DECISION

Judge Fruit Gives Plaintiffs Victory

Judge Fruit has decided the David W. Allaby et al vs. Mauston Electric Service company in favor of the plaintiff. The action was brought to secure a mandatory injunction compelling the defendant corporation to lower its dam to the original height, which is claimed by the plaintiff to have been fixed by a commission appointed in 1856.

The plaintiffs claimed that the company within the last three years had been increasing the head water at the dam causing the back waters to overflow farm lands and causing great damage.

The trial occupied five days and was hotly contested by both sides in the circuit court at Mauston.

In his decision Judge Fruit held that the company had maintained the dam of late above the authorized height and that the plaintiffs had been injured by the back water overflowing their farms.

The case will be appealed to the supreme court by the defendant corporation.

FINAL PLANS FOR JUNIOR PROM DONE

LAST MEETING OF COMMITTEES
HELD YESTERDAY

HIRE DECORATORS FOR HALL

Kreutz's Full Orchestra Will Furnish Music; Programs, Novelties and Other Features Rare

Great interest is being shown in the "June Prom" which will be given Friday evening on June 21, at the Germania hall. It will be given immediately after the commencement exercises and will be one of the greatest "younger set" social events of the year. The class shows a great deal of enthusiasm and a meeting held yesterday final arrangements in detail were completed.

Kreutz's full orchestra will furnish the music and an excellent program will be given.

It is planned to have this dance the best "prom" ever given.

The decoration committee has succeeded in getting the assistance of two of the best hall trimmers in the city and with their help it is proposed to decorate the hall beautifully. Refreshments will also be served and will consist of punch, ice cream and Nabiscos.

One of the features of this event will be the souvenir programs to be given out. They will be in the shape of a pennant and made of felt, in red and black, the high school colors. A little pencil with a silk cord will be attached with a program for twenty-two dances.

FINISH PICNIC PLAN

Sharpshooters Prepare Fine
Entertainment June 16

Sunday, June 16, is the date set by the La Crosse Sharpshooters association for their annual picnic. At the regular meeting held last evening, the sharpshooters decided upon elaborate plans for the event.

The committee on entertainment has pledged its reputation that the day's entertainment will be the best ever offered by the sharpshooters, who have a record in their line. Music by a band, singing by several of the leading singing societies of the city, and a telegraphic shoot with Milwaukee will be some of the features of the picnic. Refreshments of all kinds will be served.

It was decided to run two busses to the park from Clinton street at regular intervals for the accommodation of those who wish to come by street car. No arrangement will be made with Mississippi river steamers this year owing to disappointments in previous years.

Many improvements are being made at the park and it is now in first class condition and in its full beauty. Many people will doubtless take advantage of the occasion to hold family picnics on this day. The shooting range will be open from 12 to 3 p. m. when the telegraphic shoot will be called.

RIVER RISING HERE

The river at La Crosse will rise and raise slowly in the lower section and rapidly in the lower section in the next thirty-six hours.

At La Crosse the river continues to raise the stage at present being seven and four-tenths feet.

There has been very little change in the river between St. Paul and New Orleans.

LOCAL CHINESE BABE BAPTIZED

UNIQUE CEREMONY IN CHURCH
AT MINNEAPOLIS

WONG GE LIVES HERE NOW

After Marriage to a San Francisco
"China-Girl" He Decides to Go Into Business for Self.

With the most impressive services, the child of Mr. and Mrs. Whong Ge, owner of the Chinese laundry in La Crosse, was baptized in one of the most fashionable of Minneapolis churches—the Westminster Presbyterian—yesterday. The Rev. Dr.
John Edward Bushnell performed the ceremony in the presence of a large crowd, all anxious to see the ceremony.

The slant-eyed babe of the La Crosse laundry man is the first born of Chinese parents in Minneapolis, and also the first to receive baptism into the Christian church.

Interwoven in the life of Whong Ge, a member of the Westminster church, is a pretty story, a story of marriage in the land of the tea kingdom. Minneapolis members of the church took more than a passing interest in the family affairs of Whong Ge. When he formally announced his intentions of journeying to the dewy kingdom in search of a bride, his white friends took upon themselves the task. They wrote to the Chinese home in San Francisco, and secured a wife for Whong.

After an exchange of photographs, Whong announced that he was satisfied with the appearance of the fair Chinese belle, picked out as his fiancee. A trip was made to San Francisco, introductions made, and a binding pledge entered that the two would be married. Eighteen months ago, the wedding was solemnized.

Whong was employed by a local firm of Chinese laundries in Minneapolis, but upon marriage decided to become the owner of his own shop. Accordingly he came to this city, and located here. His wife may join him later.

SKELETON FOUND AFTER 3 YEARS.

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn., June 4.—John Shaw, a native of Ellsworth, Wis., settled on a claim on Bear river, thirty miles west of here, in the fall of 1903. The following June while following a trail from his trading place to his homestead he became lost and despite the efforts of his relatives and neighbors no trace could be found of him. Log drivers have just found the skeleton of the old man on the banks of the Bear river a short distance from his trail, they being identified by a watch and compass.

WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

A. A. Herren, Finch, Ark., writes:
"Foley's Honey and Tar is the best preparation for coughs, colds and lung trouble. I know that it has cured consumption in the first stages." You never heard of any one using Foley's Honey and Tar and not being satisfied. O. T. Erhart.

We wouldn't give a wooden nickel for all a man knows who thinks he

JOHN SPARKS

Gov. John Sparks, of Nevada, began to serve his second term of four years as the chief executive officer of his state last January, he having first taken his seat in January of 1903. He is considered in Western political circles as a sort of diamond in the rough, as his schooling was never elaborate and he has worked his way into political prominence by the strong personal hold he has on the mining element in Nevada. Governor Sparks is a democrat, and his home is at Carson City, although he spends much of his time at Reno City, where he has large property interests. Governor Sparks strongly aided the bringing of several noted prize-fights to the mining town of Goldfield, in his state.

FIRE TO HOUSE

AGED WOMAN WILL PLEAD GUILTY

LIVES ARE ENDANGERED

Self Accused Woman Says Her Only Motive Was Revenge. Neighbors Annoyed Her.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 4.— Hattie aPimer, 58 years old, is locked up in the central police station, charged with setting fire to a frame building at 213 First avenue south, early yesterday morning, while the occupants were asleep.

When the fire department responded to the alarm the fire had spread to every room, and some of the persons had a narrow escape. Firemen noticed traces of kerosene and reported the matter to the police.

Early today Mrs. Palmer surrendered and asked to be locked up.
She said she had become dissatisfied with things in the place and decided to burn the building to get even with persons who had annoyed her.

She had lived in the building for several years, she said, but recently decided that things would have to change or she would move.

Yesterday, she says, everything was quiet and she decided to burn the place. After pouring kerosene about the place she lighted a towel she had saturated with the liquid and dragged it from one room to another.

When the flames had a good start she began to call for help.

The woman says she will take whatever punishment the court gives her.

KILLS BRUTAL SIRE

Youth Shoots Drunken Parent to Save Mother

STEPHENSON, Mich., June 4.— Frenzied by drink and crazed by francied wrongs, Charles Laycock, a farmer living near Daggett, Menominee county, while attempting to choke his wife into insensibility early Sunday morning, was shot and killed by William, his 16-year-old son, who entered the bedroom in the nick of time and sent a bullet from a 22 caliber rifle through his father's brain.

Laycock came to his home shortly after 1 o'clock and immediately pulled his sick wife out of bed, clutching her by the hair, at the same time threatening to kill her and the whole family.

Alber tLaycock, the oldest son, attempted to release his partly unconscious mother from the grasp of the drunken father, but the man turned upon him and drawing a knife, was about to plunge it into his breast when the younger lad, awakened from a sound sleep, appeared and shot his father through the head.

The boy has been arrested, but will probably not be prosecuted.

STORY AND ROMANCE

Descendant of "Jack Horner" to Marry

LONDON, June 4.—Like "Mary, Mary Quite Contrary" and several other well known nursery rhymes, that relating to "Little Jack Horner" has a foundation in fact and a place in history. This circumstance has been recalled by the forthcoming marriage of Katherine Horner, a descendant of the famous "Jack" who inspired the rhyme, to Raymond Asquith, the son of the British chancellor of the exchequer.

To Americans interest in the wedding lies chiefly in the link between the bride and the hero of the ditty so familiar to every English speaking child:

Little Jack Horner
Sat in the corner,
Eating a Christmas pie;
He put in his thumb
And pulled out a plum
And said, "What a good boy am I."

Real Jack Not Little

As a matter of fact the original Jack Horner was not little at all and the deed which the rhyme commemorates is one which can hardly be commended as an example for really good boys to follow. He was the steward of the large estate appertain-ing to the rich abbot of Glastonbury. When King Henry VIII quarreled with the pope and set up as a pope on his own account, and began despoiling the monasteries, John Horner, with a shrewd eye to his own worldly welfare, sided with the merry monarch against the abbot of Glas-tonbury. The king hanged the abbot and rewarded the steward with a fat slice of the monastic lands—the title deeds to the manor of Meils in Somersetshire. That was the "plum" which he pulled out of the "pie."

W. H. TAFT IS COMING

candidate for presidential honors, this month. Secretary Taft comes here on June 10 for the Merchants and Manufacturers' association banquet to deliver an address, and at noon he will make a flying trip to Madison to speak to the students of

Attorney General Young Considering Advisability of Issuing
Call

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 4.—A meeting of governors, attorney generals and other officials of states throughout the union, liable to be affected by the rate litigation now before the federal district court, may be held in St. Paul shortly. Attorney General Young is considering the advisability of sending out a general
call.

The suits, which are nothing more than an attack on states' rights are in the mind of Mr. Young, important enough to warrant general co-operation and especially on the part of Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and New York, the legislatures of which have just passed rate-regulating laws.

It means that if the railroads win,
other interests, interstate in nature, will invoke the aid of the same decision.

GO TO CONVENTION

Mrs. H. A. Lee and L. W. Pome-

Foresters to attend the high court convention at Wausau, June 5 and 6.
The following delegation will leave this noon for Wausau: Mesdames George B. Marvin, C. W. Willey, H.
A. Lee and C. C. Looney, and Messrs.
C. W. Willey, L. W. Pomeroy and J.
S. Miller.

LANDED OLD MAN, TOO

Woman Who Got Marlborough Entices Vanderbilt

NEW YORK, June 4.—Has W. K.
Vanderbilt fallen a victim to the siren who estranged his daughter, the Duchess of Marlborough and her husband?

London gossip says so. A mysterious and beautiful American woman, the intimate friend of the duchess,
so attracted the duke that his attentions to his wife's country woman led to a separation. Mr. Vanderbilt appeared on the scene and made every effort to prevent the separation and later to effect a reconciliation. He failed, but in his undertaking he was thrown much in the company of the enticing woman at the root of the trouble. Now he and his second wife, formerly the pretty widow, Mrs. Rutherford, are living separately, and gossip boldly says the American beauty is the cause. It is whispered that Vanderbilt wants to be sued for divorce so that he can marry the bone of contention.
The only happy turn to the affair is said to be that out of it may come a reconciliation of the Marlboroughs.

STRANGE INSANITY CASE

Farmer and Wife Crazed Over Religion and Are Sent to Asylum

ORTONVILLE, Minn., June 4.—
The judge of probate committed Joseph Koplar and wife to the hospital at Fergus Falls yesterday, and their three children will be sent to the children's home. The eldest is about 12 years old and the youngest about 5.
The parents were adjudged insane.
They are Polanders and have lived in this county for about twelve years.
For the past two years, it seems that none of the family have been to town, though they live but five miles away,
and during that time have not purchased a stitch of clothing or any groceries or provisions of any kind.
They thrashed and ground their wheat with a home-made thrashing machine and mill made of boulders.
It seems that about two years ago their wheat was taken away under legal process and they then resolved to have no more dealing with the town people, but to live by themselves without the use of money and by the aid of prayer. Their principal diet for the past two years has been whole wheat bread, made without yeast and simply mixing the flour with water. The family all appear to be healthy and put up a desperate fight when the officers took them.
For the past four or five years they have had not fuel except hay and straw, though their house was neither plastered nor sided. They were devout Catholics and seemed to be insane on the question of religion, claiming title to their land by deed from Christ and refusing to recognize any authority on the part of the government to tax their land or oust them from it for failure to pay the purchase price.

Professional City Boomers Advise Liberal Program

Otto J. Koch of the Otto J. Koch Advertising Agency of Milwaukee and W. R. Emery, Northwestern manager for Everybody's Magazine, will appear before the board of trade this evening at its regular meeting to demonstrate the value of general newspaper advertising.

"It is my opinion," said Mr. Emery, this afternoon, "that La Crosse ought to appropriate not less than $50,000 for publicity purposes. Of course I'm not here to advise the board what to do or what to appropriate, but this is just what they ought to do."

enberg home ten days previous to the murder.

The defense objected to the admission of conversations between Rice and Hogan. This was overruled. Rice said after the murder that Hogan told him his right name was Orchard and said he made no effort to conceal himself.

H. E. Ellison of Caldwell, a carpenter, testified he saw Orchard ten times previous to the murder watching the Steunenberg home through glasses.

The jury as finally completed is as follows:

Thomas G. Gess, real estate; Finley McBean, rancher; Samuel D. Gilman, farmer; Daniel Clark, farmer; George Powell, rancher; O. V. Sebern, farmer; H. F. Messer, farmer; Lee Scrievener, farmer; J. A. Robertson, farmer; Levi Smith, carpenter; A. P. Burns, retired rancher; Samuel F. Russell, farmer.

Call First Witness Today

All the legal driftwood is now cleared away and the testimony the state has kept secret for more than a year is soon to be disclosed. The case is to go on tomorrow morning without further technical delay.

Judge Wood having insisted on a mid-afternoon session, at which the statutory formality of reading the indictment to the jury was performed by Clerk Otto Peterson.

Hawley was given until tomorrow morning to prepare his opening address and after that is delivered the first witness is to be called.

When court met this morning Judge Wood quickly indicated that he was weary of the long delay in securing the jury, and he directed Attorney Richardson of the defense to cease repeating questions and get through with Banker Eoff who was drawn to the box just before adjourning on Saturday. Eoff was declared qualified by the court and the defense was compelled to use its last peremptory to get him off the jury.

Renewed Interest in Case

Late yesterday afternoon the session took on an appearance of interest for the first time. The gray-bearded farmers who were summoned for jurors went home as soon as the box was filled, and their seats in the court room were occupied by spectators who evidently intend to follow the trial from this time on.

Fifty ladies joined the curious ones and gave strict attention to the clerk's monotonous when he read the five-page indictment that recited how Steunenberg was killed at his gate by a "contrivance commonly called a bomb," the manufacture of which was set out in detail by the attorney who drew up the document for the Canyon county grand jury to sign.

Haywood, who is not entirely recovered from his recent illness, was surrounded by his family and by counsel.

Harry Orchard, the state's chief witness, and the self-admitted assassin, is likely to take the witness stand Thursday or Friday.

Tomorrow morning C. E. Wayne of Caldwell is to be the first witness. He was doing chores in Steunenberg's barn the night of the murder and passed through the gate ten minutes before the bomb killed the former governor.

BAER A MURDERER?

500 Mothers Want Reading Pres. Held for Deaths

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 4.—Fifty mothers, bearing a petition signed by 500 or more, marched down on Coroner Jermon yesterday afternoon to demand the arrest of President George F. Baer of the Philadelphia and Reading railway on the charge of contributory negligence in the killing of William Johnson and his 8 year old son, who were struck by a Redding train at the "death trap" grade crossing at Venango street, making a total of ten killed in the last year. The women were from Rising Sun, one of the old incorporated villages of Philadelphia, and their march was the result of a series of indignation meetings held since the accident took place a week ago.

They told the coroner that unless he acted they would tear up the track of the Reading railroad. The coroner told the women that if they had acted sooner probably the grade crossing would have been abolished long ago. This did not appease them, and they repeated their warning that unless something was done by the officials they would take the law into their own hands.

Prosecutor Hunts Evidence

As a result of the action of the women, members of the district attorney's staff are at work with the coroner's people to collect evidence for the inquest tomorrow.

Finds He Can Hold Baer

It was the first time such retaliatory measures were ever asked in Philadelphia and at the moment the coroner did not know what to do. Later he found that he had the power to hold the Reading's president if he wished.

It developed that among the women present were six whose children had either been killed or injured at the death trap.

CLOSE ON TERMINOLOGY

CHICAGO, Ill., June 4.—A movement started in the east to make a closer distinction between the use of the terms "university" and "college" by educational institutions is spreading west. The present tendency is to use the word college in reference to those schools which have a strictly collegiate course, and apply the term university to those institutions which are most directly graduate professional schools. A few years ago the movement started in New York, when the regents of the University of New York, a body of men with oversight over all education in New York state, but with no such direct control as exercised by the regents of the University of Wisconsin, and not in control of a separate university, decided to work for a more exact terminology. They tried to stop the practice of calling a preparatory school a college, a college a university, and the agitation produced a marked effect. The first school in the west to pay attention to the demand for an exact use of the terms was Lake Forest, which is a university by its charter, but it calls itself Lake Forest college whenever possible, carrying Lake Forest university sub-title, to meet the requirements of the charter.

RECOUNT FALLACY SAYS DOHERTY

ATTORNEY MAKES STATEMENT IN ELECTION CONTEST

BALLOTS HAVE BEEN BURNED

And as a Result It Will Be Impossible to Show Contestants Were Elected Says the City Attorney

City Attorney John F. Doherty, counsel for City Clerk Joseph M. Sieger, Commission of Public Works George Falk and Alderman Joseph F. Bartl of the Eleventh ward, in the suit brought against them by Frank W. Collier, Samuel Guertin and William P. Roellig, demanding a recount of the vote in the municipal election on April 2, contends that a recount cannot be made for the reason that all of the ballots are not at hand. The ballots of the Tenth ward were burned and in view of this fact the defendants claim a recount is not possible.

Mr. Roellig in his case alleges that 292 votes were cast in the Eleventh ward, that he received 149 of these and Mr. Bartl 143. The official count showed that Mr. Bartl won out by a majority of one.

WEDDING IS WRECKED

Street Car Spills Peter Talmont and His Bride

WILWAUKEE, Wis., June 4.—When wedding bells and street car gongs begin to ring together there results usually a discord, sometimes a wreck.

Sprinkled with rice until they looked like a piece of snowstorm scenery in a melodrama, Peter Talmont and his pretty bride were driving in a carriage along Walnut street yesterday at 12:30 o'clock. An east-bound Walnut street car came plunging down the hill like an armored cruiser under full steam and rammed the carriage containing Talmont and his young wife amidships. The carriage was practically telescoped. The rear wheels were detached and went rolling down Fourth street. The body of the carriage was demolished and the horses ran away with the front wheels and a few souvenirs of the wedding rig. Talmont, with his bride, were thrown in a heap several feet from where the carriage and the street car first met. J. Wojcikowski, 1214 Fraternity street, and F. Schmeil, 1204 Fraternity street, who, with two young women of the bridal party, occupied the rig, were spilled all over the street, but none of them was hurt.

For a time the street was filled with people who took in the sights, viewed the blushing bride, arrayed in her white silks and trailing white veil; the groom, in black and white, confused and fighting mad, and the rest of the carriage load, scared to death, but unharmed.

Paris will this year celebrate the six hundredth anniversary of the first use of the fork in eating.

J. J. WOODLAND HURT

La Crosse Traveling Man Is Thrown from Buggy

J. J. Woodland, St. Paul, Minn., a traveling salesman for the La Crosse Rubber Mills company, was thrown from a buggy and sustained a broken leg and dislocated knee, while driving from Beardsley, Minn., to Brown's Valley, Minn. The horse, which Woodland was driving became frightened at a shadow in the dark and started on a gallop.

Striking a hole in the rough Minnesota road, Woodland was thrown to the ground. S. H. Billingsly, who was riding with Woodland, retained his seat in the buggy a short time longer, but also was tipped out. He suffered a sprained knee and wrenched back.

In this condition he returned to Woodland, hearing his cries and groans.

Farmers rescued the two later and brought them into Brown's Valley. Billingsly's home is in Minneapolis.

RECEIVE VALUABLES

Athletes Get Loot and Thief Is Sentenced

Today the members of the W. B. U. Athletes of this city, who had their valuables stolen while playing a game at Caledonia on May 12, received their goods, the thief having confessed to the crime and today was taken to the reformatory at St. Cloud.

While the game was on with the Caledonia team, L. Putnam, a young man of 21 years, entered the rooms at the Koel hotel, cut open the suit cases of the players, secured a watch, four rings, three stick pins, $15 in money, one revolver and a pair of kid gloves. In addition to these articles he secured several rings in a room of one of the ladies at the hotel. It was while pawing one of these that he was arrested. After being held a week he confessed and was then sentenced to the reformatory.

HOOTS AT PROPHETS

Chief Byrne Takes No Stock in Prognostications

"Huh, no same man would place any stock in those weather reports. Did you read in the Chicago papers where this man Hicks made the prediction for the month of June," said Chief of Police Byrne this morning. The chief is somewhat of a weather prognosticator himself, in fact he watches the weather flags on the government building day in and day out, from one year end to the other; carefully studies the weather map and is in a position to tell you what is going to happen with the elements. When the report came out predicting the weather for every day in the month of June, the chief scoffed at it.

"Some of the brightest men in the country are unable to make a weather forecast for twenty-four hours, and how can anyone look at the weather for a month or year ahead. I see by the summary of the local weather department for May that south winds prevailed during the month. Now I watched the wind every day during May and know that north winds prevailed." The weather man better be careful or the chief will run him in for drawing money under false pretenses.

JAPAN'S ATTITUDE CAUSES CONCERN

State Department at Loss to Understand Dissatisfaction of Mikado

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—A statement coming from Tokio to the effect that uneasiness exists there on account of dissatisfaction on the part of Japanese officials at the attitude of America in relation to the San Francisco troubles, caused some concern in official circles here yesterday.

There were expressions of surprise from those who believed they had seen in the whole souled exchange of felicitations incident to General Kuroki's visit to Washington and Jamestown, a manifestation of the best of feeling between America and Japan.

State Department Puzzled
What has caused the reported change of feeling at Tokio is a puzzle to officials in Washington, because it can not be learned that there has been any recent exchanges between the two governments relative to the treatment of the Japanese in San Francisco.

The attacks upon Japanese restaurants and bathhouses are still under investigation by the national authorities in California and when that inquiry is concluded doubtless the Japanese government will be informed of the result and if necessary a proper expression of regret will be made.

As it stands, the state department is on record as having informed the Japanese government that the last trouble in San Francisco was merely an incident to the greater strike with its accompanying riots.

Probe 'Frico Trouble.
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 4.—United States Attorney Devlin has taken the depositions of several eye witnesses relative to the attack on a Japanese bathhouse and restaurant on Folsom street, which has been made the subject of international inquiry and diplomatic correspondence between Washington and Tokio.
